Good Clinical Laboratory Practice (GCLP) Accreditation

GCLP Accreditation Deferral

Covid-19

Due to the unprecedented impact of the Covid -19 pandemic upon countries and communities globally, and the consequential restrictions placed upon local and global travel, it is proving impossible to conduct the scheduled programme of assessments for those GCLP Accreditation laboratories falling due for reassessment in the immediate future.

A process of remote assessment for such laboratories has been considered but the practicalities of such an assessment in order to obtain compelling evidence of continued compliance is considered impractical.

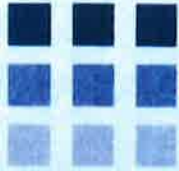

Rather than issue a new certificate to each laboratory with an extension to the current reassessment due date, not knowing when current restrictions will be lifted, this "Accreditation Deferral Notice" is issued to your laboratory to confer continued GCLP Accreditation until such time as travel and in country restricts have been lifted and the programme of reassessment can be continued. During this time you are required to maintain your compliance with the GCLP guidelines.

As soon as practical, once your movement restrictions have been lifted, you will be contacted to arrange a suitable date for the GCLP re assessment of your laboratory to take place.

The current situation is unpredictable and these measures have not been taken lightly. Be assured Qualogy will continue to maintain the credibility and value of the GCLP Accreditation scheme. During this period, we will take all measures we can to support Governments in their efforts to control the spread of this virus.
